Mashhad promotes women leadership in urban life

Thursday 10/03/2016

Last Wednesday and Thursday, the Municipality of Mashhad organized a workshop entitled "The Role of Women in Urban Life", which aimed, on one hand, to reestablish an Iranian Women Network gathering women city councilors, many of them recently elected in their municipalities, and, on the other hand, to encourage them to be more active in the international arena. A total of 52 participants, some of them representatives of the member cities of Mashhad, Karaj and Shiraz, attended the workshop.

The forum featured a morning session on the first day with institutional presentations and, during the rest of the program, participatory sessions with the focus group format. Each team identified needs, problems and challenges related to the selected subject and proposed project-oriented solutions for the next year.

Here are some of the suggestions raised by the groups:

Following this first meeting, an internal women network has been established with five committees focusing on the challenges facing women:

1. Governance and urban management
2. Urban Economics
3. Family and Culture
4. Urban Planning and development
5. Climate change and Urban Environment

These committees will continue working online between forums.
