As the globe is entering into an era of disruption and climate change, this Urban Thinkers Campus (UTC) offers a platform to showcase best practices on urban innovations shaping the future for sustainable development. It will aim to source urban innovations that have tackled real estate finance, innovative asset management, smart and sustainable communities and housing policies and regulations. It will address partially the impact of technology on the problem solving and the need for innovative financials tools to fund the SDG implementation plan. The Campus will be part of a sustainability forum dedicated to the SDG that would tackle how we can shape the future through the Sustainable Development Goals. The Campus will also celebrate World Habitat Day (2 October 2017). A gala dinner will be hosted including an awards ceremony honoring winners of the UNSDG awards for research and innovation in celebration of World Habitat Day.
